

SHORTER DOWNTIME LONGER LIFETIME

SANDVIK TURRET NEW FOR OLD PROGRAM

The DS range of drill bolters are notably productive and versatile, so it's important that any damaged or worn-out parts be dealt with quickly and dependably. To this end, Sandvik offer a fast, convenient and cost-effective way of dealing with worn-out turrets. With the New for Old program, Sandvik will buy back your used turret, and replace it with a new one. This means you can avoid the potential unreliable and risky non OEM repairs and get a dependable, long-lasting genuine Sandvik solution.

Sandvik New for Old delivers reliability and predictability. As a genuine Sandvik component it's built to exacting standards and rigorously tested. Constructed from 100% new parts and with the latest safety and technology updates, your new turret will be less vulnerable to failure than a refurbished one and can be relied upon for a longer life. We provide a 6-month full warranty to back this up.

It's a convenient and quick solution. With over 50 service centers worldwide, lead times are short – far faster on average than getting repairs from an unauthorised third party. We can even take away your used turret and install the new one. The result is that your drill bolter will quickly return to service. You'll have less downtime now, and because of your new, reliable turret, you'll experience less unplanned downtime in the future.

Why wait around for repairs, when you can get a genuine replacement – it reduces downtime and disruption straight away, and throughout the lifetime of your equipment.
